

2010 Tour of Homes
FRONT PORCHES
REFLECTING & CONNECTING

Historic Meridian Park, one of Indianapolis' pre-eminent early 20th century neighborhoods, offers a rare glimpse inside a number of its beautifully restored homes, as well as some of its gorgeous porches and gardens during the 2010 Tour of Homes. Among Indianapolis' first suburbs, Historic Meridian Park is best known for its Arts & Crafts architecture, including Mission, American Four-Square, and Prairie style homes; but it also features outstanding examples of Tudor, Dutch Colonial Revival, Italian Villa, and French Eclectic styles.

The neighborhood's rich history, diverse architecture, live music and vintage cars make the tour one of the city's favorites. As part of the 2010 tour theme - "Front Porches: Reflecting and Connecting" be sure to look for "welcoming porches" where visitors can relax, and have a glass of water while enjoying the beauty and social connection embedded in the neighborhood's grand front porches!
