

Windows Phone 7

The latest, coolest, most power-packed phone to be released by Microsoft.

Windows Phone 7 has all the features that you love. The "smart design" of the Windows Phone 7 Series brings together content from the Web, application, and services into six key areas that matter most to people, he said. Those "hubs" include people and social networking, pictures, games, music and videos, office, and an application marketplace.

It also has a host of cool features for all you developers out there- you can build apps using XNA, Silverlight, etc. the coolest part yet- you don't need the actual phone to design apps, you can simply use an emulator.

Learn all this and more at the next webcast series on Windows Phone 7.

Schedule:

Session	Date	Time	Speaker
Introduction to Windows Phone 7	Oct 22	4.00- 5.00 PM	Shailesh Jain
Building apps for Windows Phone 7	Oct 29	4.00- 5.00 PM	Mukul Kumar Gupta

About the speakers:

Shailesh Jain joined Microsoft in Jan 2007. He has been working in Product Activation, Business Group engineering as a Software Design Engineer for more than 3.5 yrs now. Shailesh is a Microsoft Certified Application Developer, Microsoft Certified Solutions Developer (Yr. 2005), SCJP (Yr. 2000) and IIT, Kharagpur Certified through ELNET-3L program in 'C', Data Structures and Unix.

Mukul Gupta has been working with Microsoft from past 2.5 years as a Development Lead and has around 9+ years of experience in design, development and leading the projects. He is very much passionate about technology and spends time to explore new products of Microsoft. He is leading .NET Learning Circle in Microsoft India and creating POCs on latest trends like Cloud Computing, Silverlight, Windows Phone 7 and BING maps.