Subject: 2nd Round Ethio-German Homegrown PhD Scholarship Offer

Human Resource Development by way of education, training and competence development is considered the cornerstone of long-term Science & Technology Capacity Building. Especially, the higher education institutions are vital in adequately feeding the economy with requisite qualified human resource, research outputs and technology solutions; and thereby ensure accelerated and sustainable industrialization, growth and development of the country.

Ministry of Education has been working on different strategies to improve the academic staff profile in the higher learning institution, particularly in science and technology areas where shortage of staff is highly severe. Ethio-German Homegrown PhD scholarship program is one of the strategies that has been implemented jointly with the German Academic Exchange Service – DAAD since 2015. So far, 40 academic staff have been enrolled through this program in the area of engineering discipline.

For the 2nd time, Ministry of Education together with DAAD is offering 40 Homegrown PhD scholarships to the Technology Institutes/Faculties and Science and Technology Universities based upon the attached quota. Together with the application form duly filled, the applicant has to submit the following documents until December 30, 2016:

- Current CV,
- Copies of academic degrees (BSc and MSc) and transcript (Student copy),
- Abstract of research proposal and detailed time table (not more than 8 pages) signed by the applicant and the Ethiopian Co-advisor,
