

College Fellowship Program

What does the year hold for you? Between school, your job and life responsibilities, how will you achieve your goals beyond the classroom. During the semester-long College Fellowship, the Hypatian Institute, Inc. helps first and second year students build competitive advantage by showing you how to leverage the knowledge you're gaining at school to pursue your short-and long-term objectives.

"I was hoping for guidance, definitely support. . . . [The Fellowship] has made my vision of my future expand more. . . . It's an amazing opportunity, an amazing experience."

The Fellowship provides an invaluable opportunity to build your potential, develop an asset-based professional brand, and gain the tools to construct and leverage a high-value network. Hypatian Institute College Fellows receive coaching, mentoring and resources valued at $3500, plus financial support through the Fellows Fund.

By creating an environment that fosters learning and self-determination, College Fellows develop confidence, resiliency and resourcefulness, and enhance skills through a curriculum focused on problem-solving, critical thinking and self-reflection. Participants are introduced to community and business leaders, programs, and topical discussions that complement their academic and life goals.

We seek high potential first and second year students with a level of academic success that may not reflect their potential. Students may self-identify for the program, or faculty, staff and community members may nominate them for the program. Participation is free, but Fellows must commit to attending monthly meetings, attending monthly coaching sessions, and engaging in a mentoring relationship.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

- Must attend, have applied to or plan to enroll at an accredited college or university in Virginia, Maryland, or the District of Columbia.
- Must have a minimum grade point average of 2.500.
