Dear Mr Abbsi

Thank you for contacting the Wall's Careline regarding the suitability of Wall's Ice Creams for a Muslim and Vegetarian Diet.

I am pleased that you are interested in our products and I hope you will find the lists useful in deciding which Ice Creams are best for your diet.

Please refer to the list below as some of our Ice Creams do contain traces of alcohol and would not be suitable for a Muslim diet. I have also enclosed a list of Ice Creams that are suitable for Vegetarians.

I hope you will continue to enjoy our products and should you require any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Please note these are only guidelines. Whether or not many Muslim consumers regard these as prohibited is, apart from where products contain gelatine, largely a matter of personal choice. The GMWA Halal Food Guide classes many of the above products as permitted, stipulating that alcohol is not unlawful when used as a colour carrier. They also have information on a Fatwa which allows the consumption of products containing calf rennet, present in many cheeses and syrups as well as ice cream. Please consult the following link to their web page on Walls Ice Cream for more detail-
