

Europe-Mobile* is Looking for a New Team!

Applications are due until July 7, 2014

Europe-Mobile is preparing its tour de France! The project will bring students from all over Europe together with pupils from different European regions. Europe-Mobile aims to enhance pupils' interest in European affairs by making Europe tangible to them. It also reveals concrete chances for pupils how to get mobile in Europe.

This year, a group of 20 students from different EU member countries travel around by bus, the Europamobil, visiting various schools in the French region Ile-de-France near Paris in order to run workshops, games and seminars for pupils on specific European issues.

In 2014, Europe-Mobile will take place from September 20 to October 15. The project is divided in three phases:

1. Educational Training

A weeklong introductory seminar includes training units on project management, on pedagogical methods and on EU issues preparing the students for their work on the ground in the classrooms. Additionally, professionals will support students in developing workshops.

2. School visits

For around two weeks, we visit one school every day within the region Ile-de-France to conduct European workshops for pupils from the age of 13 to 16.

3. Final conference and Evaluation

The experiences and methods will be evaluated among the group and afterwards will be presented in a final conference on Monday, October 13, 2014.

Europe-Mobile is directed to students of European Studies, Political, Social or Cultural Science and from other relevant disciplines from all EU countries.

Europe-Mobile offers the chance to gain practical experience in an international project environment and to deepen your knowledge on EU issues. In addition to this Europe-Mobile gives an opportunity to build a European network and to reinforce intercultural skills. Depending on the university, your participation may be recognised as an internship or an ECTS equivalent.
