

Profound! This is another must-read book of Dr. Rex T. Linao.

This book offers an Alternative Development Paradigm that goes beyond the economic dimensions. It presents not only the leading critiques concerning Modernization Paradigm of Development; but more importantly, it outlines and elucidates the “ends” and “means” toward Full Humanity Development.

- Sophremiano B. Antipolo, Ph.D., Ed.D.

Professor VI, College of Governance, Business & Economics and Director, Mindanao Center for Policy Studies
University of Southeastern Philippines

Robust, enlightening, and touching ideas that need to be communicated to all members of the human race!

Dr. Rex T. Linao's advocacy deserves the all-out support of all well-meaning individuals may they come from the government, business, and civil society sectors of the society.

- Professor Rosario N. Jagonia

Executive Director (Ret.), Philippine Normal University and Chairperson of the Board of Trustees
Agusan for People's Health Development Foundation, Inc.

Finally, a development paradigm that recognizes and pushes for the inclusion of spirituality as an intrinsic “end” to complete the human being. In this day and age when praying and other manifestations of religion and spirituality are increasingly being banned in certain countries, the book is a refreshing challenge to all development workers, particularly in Mindanao where there is no lack of efforts to achieve a lasting and sustainable peace and development.

- Director Carmencita A. Cochingco

Regional Director
National Economic Development Authority
CARAGA Region

In this book, Dr. Rex T. Linao conversates about Full Humanity Development. I believe Dr. Linao is coining a relevant development framework for Africa. His analyses of the attributes of his framework and his presentations of historical imbalances bring a new dawn of development guidelines for our great African Continent. Dr. Linao's work is revolutionary in that it takes development back to what it genuinely and originally ought to achieve.

- Trevor Maisiri, B. App. Sc, MA

Executive Director, African Reform Institute
Zimbabwe, Africa

Rex T. Linao, 37, trained for priesthood and studied Philosophy for his Undergraduate Degree (Notre Dame University/Notre Dame Archdiocesan Seminary, Magna cum Laude), studied Environment and Resources Management and Development Administration for his Master's and Doctorate Degrees respectively. For Post-Doctorate studies, he took up Conflict Management-related offerings in foreign countries.

He is currently the Executive Director of the Agusan for People's Health Development Foundation, Inc. and is deeply involved in several civil society works. He is into environment management-related, development management-related, and organizational development-related consulting works to various organizations.

ISBN 9789718629080

Full Humanity Development

A Discourse on Ends and Means

Rex T. Linao
MSERM, Ph.D.

Full Humanity Development

A Discourse on Ends and Means

Rex T. Linao, MSERM, Ph.D.