Participant-Driven Professional Development

Saturday, 9 April 2016, 8:00-16:00 (Registration 8:00-8:30)

University of Languages and International Studies, VNU, Building 2
Pham Van Dong, Dich Vong Hau, Cau Giay, Hanoi

What is EdCamp?

EdCamp is an innovative conference that is designed to create a participant-driven, fun-filled day of professional development. The conference will consist of facilitators, instead of official presenters, who will lead the group discussions that arise in each of the day's breakout sessions. Participants come to EdCamp with ideas about what they would like to learn and what they would like to share. It is the participants who decide what the day will look like.

How does EdCamp work?

During the first hour, you will have time to meet other teachers over coffee and tea. There will be an empty session board where you can post session topics that you want to learn about or share. Over the course of the day, you will have the opportunity to attend up to four sessions. The rule of the conference is to "vote with your feet." You go to the sessions that you are interested in and you have a voice in the discussion.

Why should I attend EdCamp?

During EdCamp, you will be able to collaborate with fellow educators, brainstorm solutions to common education problems, have engaging group discussions, and gain ideas that you can immediately implement in the classroom. You will make professional connections and grow as a teacher.

How should I prepare for EdCamp?

Register at <https://goo.gl/YTXRLC>. The cost is FREE and lunch is included! Come with ideas about what you would like to learn and what you would like to share. A laptop or tablet with wireless Internet would also be useful. See you at EdCamp Vietnam 2016!
