

No New Nuclear

Time to get organised and stop the new generation of nuclear power stations.

Are you planning to win?

For grassroots campaigners to network, share ideas and info, and make plans to win. By developing skills and confidence in creating and implementing campaign and action plans, we can identify when and where our interventions can be most successful.

Costs will be kept as low as possible. You will be asked to contribute towards the venue and food, but don't let being skint stop you from coming :).

Seeds for Change is an activist training network that will facilitate the weekend and share skills for winning through campaign and action planning.
